THE IRRIGATION CONVENTION.

Secretary Gillespie Predicts That Fifteen Hundred Delegates Will Be Present.

Secretary Gillespie is doing his utmost to make the irrigation convention a great success. He is not content with allowing the matter to rest after the governors of the different states have named their delegates, but he is opening up personal correspondence with each delegate with a view to interesting him sufficiently in the scheme to insure either his attendance or that of a substitute.

The plan is to make the convention as large and representative in its character as possible, giving in this way its deliberations greater weight with Congress in the matter of any legislation it may outline or suggest.

The committee on transportation has written to the general passenger agents of all the roads in the west asking that they make half rates to all persons attending the convention.

Invitations will be sent to the commissioners of agriculture of all the states east of the Mississippi asking their presence, so they might familiarize themselves with the methods of irrigation now prevailing in the west.

Secretary Gillespie expects that there will be 1,500 delegates present, and nearly as many other persons who will take advantage of the cheap rates to visit this city.

R. G. SLEATER, President.

MAKES THE

Weak Strong

The marked benefit which people in run down or weakened state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves the claim that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength from which there must follow a reaction of greater weakness than before, but in the most natural way Hood's Sarsaparilla overcomes that tired feeling, creates an appetite, purifies the blood, and, in short, gives great bodily, nerve, mental and digestive strength.

Fagged Out.

"Last spring I was completely fagged out. My strength left me and I felt sick and miserable all the time, so that I could hardly attend to my business. I took one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it cured me. There is nothing like it." R. C. BROWN, Editor Enterprise, Belleville, Mich.

"I derived very much benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I took for general debility. It built me right up, and gave me an excellent appetite." ED. JENNINGS, Mt. Savage, Md.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy anything else instead. Insist upon having
